TUBERCULOSIS SOCIETY VOTES PAY FOR NURSES

Three Dropped by City Last June to Be Retained Two Months Longer.

The Tuberculosis Society yesterday voted to pay the salaries of three municipal nurses for two months longer, and appropriated $600 to meet this expense. Another appropriation of $400 was made to pay the salary of a resident dentist at Koch Hospital, the municipal tuberculosis sanatorium, and to meet these extra expenses and at the same time continue the most important and urgent of its regular lines of work, the society decided to curtail much of its less urgent work and devote its funds and time to the other lines for the present.

The three municipal nurses, whose salaries are guaranteed for two months, were discharged by the city June 1, because of lack of funds. After making every effort to obtain municipal funds from some other department, to prevent discharging these nurses, the Tuberculosis Society finally guaranteed their salaries for three months. That period expired Aug. 1, but the salaries have been carried by the society, pending a meeting of the Board of Directors.

The item of pay for a resident dentist at Koch Hospital was requested by the imperative necessity for dental work for about 50 percent of the patients of that institution. Most of them are unable to come to town for treatment. Following a survey of these conditions by Dr. J. P. Harper, dean of the St. Louis University Dental College, the society agreed to pay a dentist's salary if the city would install and equip a dental laboratory at Koch.

A. W. Jones Jr., secretary of the society, said the unemployment situation, present financial conditions, the hot summer and other causes have placed an especially heavy burden upon the Tuberculosis Society at this time. The Night and Day Camp has run beyond capacity all summer with a long waiting list. Many of the full-pay children at the open-air schools have dropped into the part-pay or non-pay classes, and as the society guarantees to pay for the meals of all children at the open-air schools who cannot afford the price of their own meals, this has greatly increased the expense of the open-air school work of the organization. Through its free employment bureau the society is trying to remedy this condition and has been successful in placing a number of the fathers of open-air school children, as well as finding jobs for other members of the families of girls at the Night and Day Camp.

The society will not curtail its work in either of these directions, Jones said, and therefore is obliged to cut in several other directions until funds can be obtained to carry forward the work on the old program.

Formal Opening Next Monday Night With Registrations Continuing Three Nights.

Approximately 8000 students, from 14 to 60 years of age, registered last evening for subjects they wish to take in the public night course which begins Monday. The schools will be opened again tonight, tomorrow and Friday for those unable to be present last night.

Several new classes will be inaugurated this year. One of these will be a course in higher accounting offered at the Cleveland High School. At the Central High School a class was formed in lip reading for those who are totally or partially deaf. A class for janitors was also formed at the Central for instruction in the value of fuel economy, smokeless firing, scientific use of saps, study of paints and varnishes and stain removers.

An Americanization course for aliens seeking citizenship will be offered in practically all the night schools.

The regular night school term will last for 75 nights. Sessions are held on two nights each week from 7:30 to 9:30. There is no charge for tuition for residents of St. Louis. Nonresidents are admitted on payment of a charge of $15 for the term.

Plan for Savings Banks in All Public Schools Approved by Board.

School savings banks, which will be connected with neighborhood banks, members of the Federal Reserve system, are to be established in all the St. Louis public schools, under a vote taken by the Board of Education last night. The plan is now in operation in the Webster School, 2127 North Eleventh street, and the Irving School, 3323 North Twenty-fifth street.

The plan was proposed by Stephen M. Wagner, who supervised the Thrift Stamp sales in the schools in the war period. The details were furnished by Assistant Superintendent Rathmann, with the aid of the principals and teachers of the Webster and Irving schools.

Banking boys and girls designated in each school, whom the children will bring the money which they wish to deposit. The principal and teachers will receive the money and will deposit it in the bank for them. The nearest bank, co-operating in the plan, is to send a messenger to the school to get the money and to deposit it in the bank. The teachers will be responsible for the money. The bank is to pay 3 per cent interest. All school accounts are to be audited once a month by the Board of Education.

When any pupil's deposit amounts to $5 he or she is to be taken to the bank to start a personal deposit there. After doing this, the pupil will continue to make small deposits at the school, until another $5 is reached. Children wishing to withdraw money must have the written consent of their parents, and teachers are to advise against withdrawals except in case of evident necessity.

For any school which is not near a bank which is a member of the Federal Reserve system, a connection with some downtown bank shall be established. The plans have the approval of bankers who have been consulted, and they believe, as the school authorities do, that the children's small savings will train them in habits of thrift, and will make

The board will meet next Tuesday afternoon to consider obtaining bid for construction of the Woodward School, Alabama avenue and Bafes street. The matter has been deferred in the hope of a decline in building costs. W. Palmer Clarkson, chairman of the Committee on Buildings, said he hoped to keep the cost of the Woodward building within $350,000, although estimates have been $100,000 higher.

TELLS HISTORY OF WORK OF WOMEN MINISTERS

Rev. Lucy Rider Meyer Traces Them Back to 107 A. D.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—History of women ministers from the first century was sketched here today at the annual convention of the International Association of Women Preachers by the Rev. Lucy Rider Meyer of the Chicago Training School. Dr. Meyer is the founder of the modern Order Deaconesses in the Methodist Episcopal Church of America.

The Deaconess has the unique distinction of being the first woman minister in the Christian Church. Dr. Meyer said. Set-apart women were actually called ministræ as early as 107 A. D. when Pity the Younger wrote his famous letter to Trajan, the Roman Emperor. But 40 years before that, Phoebe, the diakonon, was mentioned by Paul in his letter to the Romans.

Deaconesses were many during the early years of church history. They were ordained as were their brothers the deacons of the church, with a ritual that has remained to this day, and which is actually used in the consecration service of deaconesses in some of the denominations of the present.

Deaconesses of the early church, continued Dr. Meyer, and indeed those of later time, are remembered largely by their practical work—Phoebe, carrying the priceless epistle to the Romans from Corinth to Rome, Olympia nursing the sick, and notwithstanding the social customs of the day we may be sure that deaconesses told widely the gospel story.

From the fifth century on, this form of woman's work was discontinued in the church—the Dark Ages were coming on. Who can judge how much of their darkness came from barring out woman's activities in religious and benevolent matters? With Fledner and the Germans came a great revival of deaconess work which has gradually spread to all denominations. Statistics are difficult to obtain, but there are no doubt 25,000 set-apart women in the protestantism of Europe, pushing every conceivable form of church work, while in America, though the number is smaller, it reaches into the thousands.

The history of nursing from the third century to the present is an illuminating chapter of the activity of the deaconess in the church. In early days she founded and nursed in many hospitals. At the present time and especially in the Methodist Episcopal Church, her activity in hospital work has given a great impetus to this form of service, Dr. Meyer concluded.

SWITCHMAN CRUSHED TO DEATH

Morris Malone Is Caught Between Derailed Engine and Box Car. Morris Malone, 23 years old, a Terminal Railroad switchman, was killed last night when a switch engine, on the front footboard of which he was riding, jumped the track on Main street, north of Bridge street, and crashed into a string of box cars on the main track. Malone was crushed against the cars.

William F. Kenna, foreman of the switching crew, escaped injury by jumping from the footboard. Malone was married and lived at the southeast corner of Tenth street and St. Louis avenue.

TRANSPORTATION TAX CUT
— IN HALF BY COMMITTEE

Reduction Applies to Freight, Passenger and Pullman Rates—
Other Schedule Changes.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Retention for the calendar year 1933 of the transportation taxes on freight, passenger and Pullman accommodations, but at one-half the present rate, was agreed upon today by the Senate Finance Committee. The committee also voted finally to amend the provision of the House bill to retain the full tax on express packages and oil transported by pipeline.

The House rates on cereal beverages and other soft drinks were adopted, but it was explained that some of these might be subject to change. The committee passed over the inheritance tax and decided to take up at a later session today sales on candy, jewelry, furs, sporting goods and a number of other items.

REPORT ON NEGRO LIFE IN ST. LOUIS MADE TO GOVERNOR

Survey by Missouri Negro
Industrial Commission
Shows Much Unemployment and Housing Poor.

PAUPERISM IS SAID
NOT TO BE COMMON

Overcrowding in Certain Districts Said to Be a Serious Menace to Health
of Citizens.

Employment and housing conditions among St. Louis negroes are outlined in the semi-annual report of the Missouri Negro Industrial Commission. The commission was appointed by Gov. Hyde under an act of the Legislature and its chairman is Nathaniel C. Bruce, principal of a negro industrial school at Dalton, in Chariton County.

A survey of home life in the city of St. Louis, it is stated, showed the following facts as to 399 families, which it says were picked at random: Average years lived in State, 18; regular married couples, 188;
common-law marriage, 12; divorce
account of non-support, 7; male wage earners, 228; children of school age in school, 128; 48 deaths in the last year under 5 years of age, 75
per cent of them being from pneumonia; among the men, 300 used tobacco in some form and 188 had used intoxicating liquor in some degree; 12 had money in bank during this depression; 10 per cent were homeowners or buying homes, and 80
males were skilled mechanics.

10,000 Now Out of Work.
The figures indicate, the report says, "that in St. Louis there are at present around 10,000 colored men out of work, through no fault of their own. It is also found that pauperism is relatively uncommon
among us, though we are frequently charged with being shiftless and lacking foresight. These homes showed to good advantage as to neatness and proper care and evidences of refinement were more common than rare."

"Housing conditions among the city negroes could be improved," the report continues. "As a rule, rents are higher than for whites for the same accommodations. Houses available to the negro are so large and so far above his means to either purchase or rent that he has to fill them up with roomers in order to pay the exorbitant rents; the wear and tear
on the floors, many of which go uncovered because of lack of furniture to properly equip such places, give them a run-down appearance, and the very effect of the negro's poverty is incentive enough for the average landlord to refuse to make repairs, with the result the whole negro district soon resembles a field
devastated by the locust plague."
"Negro homes of the small apartment kind are sorely needed to replace many of the large tumbling-down old tenement houses. In this field some men of means will find a profitable source of investment, and it cannot be proven that the negro will fail to care for property within his means to either rent or buy. No one likes beautiful things better than the average negro, whether it is in fine clothes or a good home, and the man with money to build these good substantial homes, if he has the right
vision, will find the best class of tenants it is possible to secure. But this overcrowding is a serious menace to the health of all citizens, white and black. Here disease germs breed;
crowding means less chance for thorough cleaning, poorer ventilation
and all that goes to favor disease
breeding."

Crowded Conditions Described.
"In one house on Clark avenue are nine adults on two floors, besides the children of numerous families; the toilets are right at the kitchen door
and disease is hovering about, ready to enter; within 50 feet of it is another housing nine adults and no children, in less than six rooms; another two-story six-room house has six adults and some children; another six adults and five children,
and this it goes on in any number of districts. One landlady in this district even cut out what ventilating
she had from a porch between two houses to transform the porch into rooms so more people could be accommodated, and the entrance to the apartments had to be made on the outside. "In this case how could be better treated."

As the result of a recent survey of St. Louis as to its negro population,
it is stated that for the negro population, estimated at 70,000, there is one of the finest negro physicians, 10 dentists and 10 lawyers.
Other figures given are:
"A public grammar school for every 2222 people; a church
for every 1400 people; a public school teacher to every 25 people; one steam laundry,
restaurant for every $500; a hotel
for every $2,222; two negro-controlled life insurance companies, with a number of other colored men in the life insurance business; three hat
manufacturers; 11 real estate dealers
combined in a negro real estate exchange; a ladies' and gents' furni-

ing store; a dry goods store; one jewelry store; a drug store to every 12-000 persons; two colored hospitals;
an undertaker for every 1000; a coffin factory; a florist; 12 colored grocers; two newspapers; seven printing plants; two furniture stores; a tea and coffee store; milliners, opticians and electricians, two each;
two photographers; three sign artists and painters; the largest plant

Why My Friends All Take Yeast Vitamon Tablets Now To Make Firm Flesh, Increase Energy and Beautify the Complexion

"Just as my friends all started to talk about the wonderful health and beauty-
giving properties of the vitamins in yeast
and other raw foods, I heard about the highly concentrated form of true yeast-
vitamins called MASTIN'S VITAMON.
Once I started taking two of these tiny tablets with every meal I noticed results almost immediately. Others did too, for people began remarking about how well I looked—how much younger and prettier
—and to say I felt better doesn't half express the truly amazing improvement. I have gained several pounds, my flesh is firm, my nerves are calm and there seems to be no end to my new found energy.
Now my friends who so admired the change in me are all turning to the concentrated yeast MASTIN'S VITAMON tablets and not only find them easy and economical to take, but results are so surprisingly quick."
The enthusiasm of this writer is like that of thousands, for MASTIN'S VITAMON contains not only highly concentrated yeast-vitamins, but the two other still more important vitamins (Fat soluble
A and Water soluble C) which makes a proper dose to build firm tissue, strong nerves, rich blood and a keen, active brain.
It will not cause gas or upset the stomach, but, on the contrary, is a great aid to digestion and in overcoming chronic constipation. Boils and skin eruptions seem to vanish like magic under this healthful
purifying influence, leaving the skin fresh, clear and beautiful. So remarkable are the benefits from these highly concentrated MASTIN'S VITAMON tablets that entire satisfaction is absolutely guaranteed or the small amount you pay for the trial will be promptly refunded. Be sure to remember the name MASTIN'S VITAMON—
the original and genuine yeast-vit-
amine tablet—there is nothing else like it,
so do not accept imitations or substitutes.

You can get MASTIN'S VITAMON tablets at all good druggists, such as Enders's six stores, Johnson Bros., Judge & Dolph, E. A. Medler, A.
W. Pauley's, Wolff-Wilson, Ruger's two stores.

THIRD YOUTH ARRESTED IN MURDER OF AUTO SALESMAN

Other Two Agree in Confessions of Killing Two Men to Get Possession of Machine.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—With the signed confessions of Harvey W. Church and Leon Parks, implicating Clarence Wilder in the murders of Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl A. Ausmus, automobile salesman and demonstrator, detectives today resumed the questioning of Wilder in an effort to obtain a confession from him.

Wilder was taken into custody by the authorities early today, but stoutly maintained his innocence during preliminary questioning. The confessions of Church and Parks are in the hands of the grand jury, which started investigation of the murders yesterday. Some action by that body was expected by authorities today.

The final confessions of Church and Parks, made yesterday, agree in all essential details of the two murders. According to their statements, Church, Parks and Wilder planned the theft of an automobile which Daugherty and Ausmus were attempting to sell them. They planned to rob the automobile agents, sell the car and divide the profits.

Daugherty and Ausmus were led to Church's flat by the latter. In the basement Wilder and Parks waited and it was here that Daugherty was handcuffed, choked and his throat cut. A similar fate was meted out to Ausmus a few minutes later. Ausmus' body then was buried in the basement of the garage; that of Daugherty was thrown in the Des Plaines River.

Wilder, however, maintains his innocence and asserts he can establish an alibi. He told the authorities that he worked in a shoe factory during the entire day the murders were committed and can account for his whereabouts during the evening.

THREE ARRESTS IN LIQUOR RAIDS

Forty Bottles Said to Contain Whisky Found in One Place.

Acting Night Chief of Police Matthews led a raid on a saloon at 314 North King's highway last night and arrested the bartender, Tony Mattel, 41 years old, of 762 Bayard avenue, when they found two pints of whisky behind the bar. A padlocked storeroom in the rear was unlocked with a key found hanging on the wall and a two-gallon jug, 19 quart bottles and 21 pint bottles, all said by the police to contain whisky; a quart of gin and two cases of beer were confiscated.

Ray and Irene Rickerton were arrested at the Schneider Hotel, 1106 South Fourth street, when police-men found a quart bottle and three jugs, supposed to contain whisky, and a quart of port wine.

Mash Found in Sunflower Patch. Federal prohibition agents yesterday found 400 gallons of corn mash secreted in a sunflower patch near the Eighteenth street bridge over the railroad yards in East St. Louis. On information, the nature of which they would not divulge, they swore out a warrant charging James Hubbard, a packing house employee, with having the mash in his possession.

RIDERLESS HORSE FOR SAUERWEIN PROCESSION

Honor to Be Accorded at Funeral Sunday of Major Killed in Argonne.

A riderless horse, with boots reversed, will be led in the funeral procession of Maj. August Sauerwein, from the First Regiment Armory to Memorial Park Cemetery Sunday afternoon.

Lieutenant-Colonel S. E. Lowe, who is to be marshal of the column, has arranged that the horse shall be led by William Finner, who was orderly to Maj. Sauerwein up to the time of the officer's death in the Argonne battle, Sept. 26, 1918.

This honor, under military funeral regulations, is accorded only to mounted officers, namely, field or staff officers. All officers above the rank of Captain, are classed as mounted officers. A Captain, serving as regimental adjutant, or a First Lieutenant, serving as battalion adjutant, would also be classed as a mounted officer.

Highest St. Louis Officer Killed. Maj. Sauerwein, who commanded the first battalion of the 135th Infantry, was the highest ranking officer from St. Louis who was killed in the war. A large attendance at his funeral is anticipated.

The body of Maj. Sauerwein, which arrived in St. Louis Monday afternoon, is at an undertaking establishment at 3846 Lindell boulevard and will be taken to the First Grand avenue and Market street, at 9 a. m. Sunday. The casket will occupy a place of honor at the Armory until the funeral, which is to begin at 1 p. m.

The speakers at the funeral will be Senator Spencer, Mayor Kiel, Chaplain Reader and Mrs. Alys Dameron Weed. It is planned that every military unit in St. Louis, all American Legion posts, and members of units to which Maj. Sauerwein formerly belonged, shall participate in the procession. Blakely Post, American Legion, embracing the Sauerwein-Bisbarrow Post, will have first position among the Legion posts.

The funeral procession will start from the Armory at 2 p. m., and the route will be north on Grand avenue to Lindell boulevard, out Lindell to King's highway, and thence by automobiles and street cars (from Maryland line terminus) to the cemetery.

Eighteen members of old E Company, First Regiment, known as the Rainwater Rifles, are expected to be in the line. This was the company of Maj. Sauerwein's first enlistment.

Regulars to Head Column. A contingent of regulars from Jefferson Barracks, under Col. John H. Parker, will head the column. The entire First Infantry, N. G. M., under Col. C. S. Thornton, will be in line, also the first battalion of the 135th Infantry which was Maj. Sauerwein's command. Battery A and other military organizations will march.

The active pallbearers will be eight officers of the Thirty-fifth Division, A. E. F. They are: Maj. James L. Barngrave, Maj. Norman B. Comfort, Maj. H. S. Rumsey, Maj. A. B. McVillie, Maj. R. E. Gruner, Capt. Fred B. Nulsen, Capt. Gunther Meier and Capt. Roland S. Kieffer. All officers of the Thirty-fifth Division and former officers of the old First and Fifth Missouri regiments are invited to serve as honorary pallbearers. These officers will not be invited individually, as the addresses of some are not known, and they are asked by the committee to accept this published notice as a request to serve.

Brigadier-General W. A. Raupp, Adjutant-General of the Missouri National Guard, will be in command of the honorary pallbearers.

Aids to Marshal Lowe. Lieutenant-Colonel Lowe, marshal of the column, will have as aids Maj. George W. Stewart, Capt. R. H. Steinholtz, Capt. Daniel Smith, Lieut. Frank D. Sullivan, Lieut. John Moll, Lieut. W. N. Phillips and Lieut. F. H. Cleaver. The Rev. Father T. D. Kennedy will give the benediction at the cemetery.

The funeral of Lieut. Ralph D. Oldham of the Supply Company, 135th Infantry, who was killed in the Argonne battle, will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Tyler Place Presbyterian Church, Russell and Spring avenues. Alexander Skinker Post, American Legion will have charge of the service. Burial will be in Valhalla Cemetery.

The funeral of Otto H. Koch of F Company, 356th Regiment, will be held from the home of his mother, Mrs. 1224 Koch, in Washington, St. Louis County, Sunday, Sept. 18, at 2 p. m. with burial in St. Louis Cemetery.

The funeral of Edward M. Krohn of the Fifth Regiment, Marine Corps, who was killed at Chateau Thierry June 6, 1918, will be held Saturday afternoon at St. Columbkille's Church, Carondelet, followed by burial in the Jefferson Barracks Cemetery. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Krohn of 5109 Reilly avenue.

Not for Women Only

To millions it is bringing whiter teeth

This new way of teeth-cleaning appeals to women. It brings them prettier teeth. But men also enjoy it, and children must use it to properly clean their teeth.

Millions now use it, largely by dental advice. The glistening teeth you see everywhere now show the results of its use.

Everyone needs it, as this simple test will show. See the results it brings in ten days and decide that for yourself.

You must fight film

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

The ordinary tooth paste does not effectively combat it. Your tooth brush has left much of it intact. And that clinging film may do a ceaseless damage.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of other serious troubles, local and internal.

Thus film causes most tooth troubles. And,

despite the tooth brush, all those troubles have been constantly increasing. Some have become so common as to be alarming.

Now ways to combat it

Dental science has for years sought ways to combat that film. The ways have now been found. Able authorities have amply proved their efficiency. Leading dentists everywhere now advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in a scientific tooth paste. The name is Pepsodent. Its use is fast spreading the world over.

To let all know it quickly, a 10-Day Tube is being presented to anyone who asks. Thus thousands of new people daily are learning its delights.

Combines five effects

But Pepsodent does more than fight film. It fights the acid which is a great tooth destroyer.

Each use of Pepsodent multiplies the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is to digest the starch deposits which may otherwise remain and form acid.

Free All This Week

This 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent. Simply present the coupon. This test will prove a delightful revelation. It will show you the way which millions have found to whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. This offer is for one week only. It means much to you and yours. Act now.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer of the acids which attack the teeth.

It combats the film wherever it adheres. It leaves the teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily cling. Pepsin is also included.

See and feel it act

The results are not uncertain. You can see and feel them. Some are almost instantaneous. A ten-day test is most convincing.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-costs disappear. Watch the other good effects.

To millions this test has proved a revelation. It has shown them the way to prettier teeth, to cleaner, safer teeth. One does not return to the old ways when he sees what this new way does.

The delightful results

One conspicuous result is to beautify the teeth. Another is a feeling of cleanliness. Men who smoke will see great changes. It is film that absorbs tobacco stains.

But it is most essential to the children. Young teeth are most subject to film and starch attacks. Dentists advise that children use Pepsodent daily from the time the first teeth appear. Under old methods, very few children escape some tooth destruction.

To all this test is important. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget to make it. Present it this week.

1000 NET FANS SEE TILDEN AND JOHNSTON BATTLE

Rise of the Early Matches
Is the Defeat of Wil-
sons by Australian.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—Over
persons were present today at the Crumey Club tennis
when William T. Tilden II,
tennis champion, and W. M.
Johnston, former United States champion, fought the day's match in the national lawn
tournament.

For Johnson meant permanent possession of the championship
having won it twice previously. He had previously announced his intention to retire from competition after this season. Bill Johnston started out winning the first set 6-4, but Tilden turned it up on the second set,

which was carried to deuce, 7 games.

Norris Williams beaten.
The surprise of the day's play was the defeat of R. L. Norris
of Boston, former U. S.
champion, by a brilliant but erratic
J. C. Anderson of Australia.
Anderson won in five sets, scores
6-3, 2-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Anderson was very slow getting into his stride and played brilliantly in the third and fourth sets, when he tied the match.
Tilden won the opening game
of the fifth and deciding set, on Wilson's errors and the two divided until the ninth. Anderson went into the lead, 5-4, when he won a placement and two sets
more. The Australian then lost the set and match by taking service for a winning 4-2. A double fault by Anderson and a placement by Anderson, the Australian ahead, and he put everything into two advantage placements, both of which he won by a fraction of an inch.
Elimination of Williams was
with his upset of the tournament results were:

Tilden II, Philadelphia,
def. Howard O. Kinsey, San Francisco, 4-6, 8-6, 6-2, 6-1.
Anderson, G. Kinsey, San Francisco,
def. William J. Gallon, New York, 6-0, 6-1, 6-4.

Kamman to Meet Drewes in Final For Tennis Title

Newcomer in Local Championship Circles Beats Repert
in Semifinal.

By Davison Obeart.

Another upset took place yesterday afternoon in the district tennis tournament at the Triple A Club in Forest Park when Karl Kamman,
former junior champion, defeated
Arthur Repert in the semifinal round. This was the third upset since the event opened. The first occurred when Wray Brown eliminated Fred Jostles and the second when Arthur Repert won from Brown on Monday.

Yesterday's match between Repert
and Kamman went the full distance of five sets and required three hours and 10 minutes to complete.
The score was 6-8, 6-6, 7-5, 10-8, 6-3. There were 59 games played before a decision was reached.

In the first set the play was about even. Both contestants alternated in coming into the net and playing in the back court. Repert won the set at 6-8, and Kamman came into the net frequently in the second set,
which was a mistake, as Repert took this set with ease, sending many balls down the sidelines for needed points. The score was 6-6.

With two sets against him, Kamman
started the third with determination. He remained in the back court and by steady, forceful playing won the set at 7-5. The next second was also close. Repert kept up his steady playing until the seventeenth game, when Kamman put forth his best efforts and pulled out the set at 10-8. Kamman showed good judgment in remaining in the back court in the last set. His quick execution from this position enabled him to win the set at 6-3 and the match.

WRAY'S COLUMN

It Isn't a Matter of Weight.

NONE can say that Hugh Walker of Kansas City lacks courage. A boxer of somewhat less than first rank renown, he will, tomorrow night, at the Coliseum, face Bill Brennan, considered the second best American heavyweight. More than that, although his foe is rated higher, Walker will concede him between 25 or 30 pounds in weight, two inches in height, fully as much reach, not to mention three years of experience.
Ordinarily fans would reach, not to mention three years of experience.
will enter the ring tomorrow with every advantage over his smaller foe, except years, Walker being 25
and Brennan 28.

Being heavyweights, they will not swirl around the ring tomorrow with the speed of feather and bantamweights, to which this victims has become accustomed.

Neither will they give a Packey
McFarland brand of cleverness.
Such as they are, however, they represent about the best this country has to afford outside of the champions.

For several months Brennan has declined to accept any boxing engagements that did not carry a guarantee of $5000. For this affair he consented to box on a percentage, as did Walker, in view of the beneficiaries of the show—the disabled soldiers of the world war.

S. O. Walker was chosen to face the redoubtable Brennan, because of his willingness and his toughness, by Matchmaker Leo Heyman, who arranged the bout
in the interest of the Enlisted-Men's Club benefit.

The mere fact that 30 pounds
weight was against him deterred Walker in no way. He is accustomed to giving weight and swapping blows with larger foes, without the sign of running or shirking.

Walker, in fact, once met Brennan and stayed the 10-round limit with him. Tomorrow night he will go 12 rounds to a decision; and Brennan, now being considered for a return fight with Champion Jack Dempsey, can ill afford to let a decision be recorded against him.

Was It "Foul" or "Kayo?"

THERE was no "knockout by"
in Walker's record, up to 1921;
but this year one report from Terre Haute carried a story that he had been knocked out in one round by Tom Gibbons, the light heavyweight, who meets Georges Carpentier for the title late this year.

Inquiry revealed that Walker had claimed foul and refused to continue, in the first round. The referee refused to allow his claim and declared it was a knockout in Gibbons' favor. Walker had met Gibbons twice before, in no-decision bouts, and had stayed the limit.

Walker has a number of knockouts to his credit, but none against boxers of note. He has beaten men like Capt. Bob Roper, Homer
Smith and others of reputation,
however.

Brennan's Punch Lacks Snap.

LIKE Walker, Brennan is not a "finisher" of good men, despite the prefix of "Knockout Bill" to his name. He is 6 feet 1 inch tall, weighs about 265 pounds, and can muscle and punch, but lacks a snappy punch, although his record
shows a large number of knockouts to his credit. Had he owned a kayo punch there might have been a different story as to his second championship fight with Dempsey—the only man that ever stopped Bill.

In their first meeting Brennan
was forced to quit by the referee,
in the sixth round, with a broken ankle. He had not been knocked out. In their second meeting, at New York, the crowd was amazed
to see Brennan do most of the landing for four or five rounds.
Dempsey's corner and make him
appear to very poor advantage.
The champion eventually, in the twelfth round, reached Bill with a kay; but had Brennan owned a snap to his early blows, it is probable that Dempsey would not have had power enough left to administer that knockout.

HERMAN TO BOX BUFF
IN TITLE BOUT SEPT. 23

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Pete Herman, world's bantamweight champion, and Johnny Buff, claimant of the flyweight championship, have been matched to meet for the bantamweight title in Madison Square Garden, Sept. 23. Promoter Tex Rickard announced last night. The boys have agreed to weigh in at 115 pounds at 2 o'clock on the day of the contest.

Roy Moore, who was forced to cancel his match with Herman because of an injured right hand, will be up-
able to enter the ring for two weeks,
physicians reported after an X-ray examination.

Perfect Bowling Score.

By the Associated Press.
TOLEDO, O., Sept. 14.—The first perfect bowling score of the season
here was recorded last night when
"Bud" Gardner, bowling in the all-star league, under American Bowling Congress sanction, struck all the way. The score was made on new alleys opened only a week ago. The team of which Gardner is a member scored 1125 for three games.

Brennan and Walker Both Here for Bout at Coliseum Tomorrow

BILL BRENNAN of Chicago and HUGH Walker, Kansas City,
principals in the boxing match
which will feature the program of the Enlisted Men's Club show at the Coliseum tomorrow night, are both in the city. Walker limbered up at the Business Men's Gymnasium, yesterday afternoon. Both appear to be in good condition.
Brennan is still seeking a return match with Champion Jack Dempsey, against whom he made the best fight of any opponent the champion has ever faced. Since Dec. 29 Brennan has fought 16
bouts and won 13 of them on knockouts—none of important ring
foes, however.
Hugh Walker has had 24 bouts
this year, and has lost only one—to Tom Gibbons in a questioned ruling at Terre Haute. Gibbons and Walker have been matched to box in Boston, Sept. 24.

INDUSTRIALS LEAD UP IN STOCK MARKET

Gains of One to Two Points Shown - Railroad Shares Tend Lower - Baldwin Locomotive Feature of Strong Section.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Trading on the stock exchange was active, but the volume of business was not as large as it was in the previous week. The market was generally steady, with a slight upward bias. The leading feature of the day was the strong performance of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, which advanced 2 1/2 points to 107 1/2. This was due to a report that the company had secured a large order for locomotives from the United States Army. Other strong performers included the Pullman Standard Car Company, which advanced 1 1/2 points to 101 1/2, and the American Locomotive Company, which advanced 1 point to 100 1/2. The railroad shares, however, tended to be lower, with the Great Northern Railway down 1/2 point to 101 1/2 and the Northern Pacific down 1/2 point to 100 1/2. The industrial shares, on the other hand, were generally higher, with the American Steel and Wire Company up 1 1/2 points to 101 1/2 and the American Steel and Wire Company up 1 1/2 points to 101 1/2. The market closed with a net gain of 1 1/2 points for the day."

"The steel industry, which has been the leading feature of the market for some time, continued to show strength today. The American Steel and Wire Company, which has been the leading performer in the industry, advanced 1 1/2 points to 101 1/2. This was due to a report that the company had secured a large order for steel wire from the United States Army. Other strong performers in the industry included the American Steel and Wire Company, which advanced 1 1/2 points to 101 1/2, and the American Steel and Wire Company up 1 1/2 points to 101 1/2. The market closed with a net gain of 1 1/2 points for the day."

"The iron and steel industry, which has been the leading feature of the market for some time, continued to show strength today. The American Steel and Wire Company, which has been the leading performer in the industry, advanced 1 1/2 points to 101 1/2. This was due to a report that the company had secured a large order for steel wire from the United States Army. Other strong performers in the industry included the American Steel and Wire Company, which advanced 1 1/2 points to 101 1/2, and the American Steel and Wire Company up 1 1/2 points to 101 1/2. PRICE RANGE ERRATIC IN TRADING ON CURB

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Some very erratic trading was reported today on the New York Stock Exchange. The market was generally steady, with a slight upward bias. The leading feature of the day was the strong performance of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, which advanced 2 1/2 points to 107 1/2. This was due to a report that the company had secured a large order for locomotives from the United States Army. Other strong performers included the Pullman Standard Car Company, which advanced 1 1/2 points to 101 1/2, and the American Locomotive Company, which advanced 1 point to 100 1/2. The railroad shares, however, tended to be lower, with the Great Northern Railway down 1/2 point to 101 1/2 and the Northern Pacific down 1/2 point to 100 1/2. The industrial shares, on the other hand, were generally higher, with the American

VETERAN COMMANDS RECRUITS FOR SPAIN

Maj. Donald MacGregor at Head of 300 Men Who Sailed From New York Yesterday.

By the Associated Press. Sept. 14.—Commanded by a veteran of three wars, who won his way from buck private to the rank of Major while serving with the Canadian army in France, 300 men left here yesterday for Spain on the steamship Antonio Lopez to fight the Moors in Morocco. Recruited in the United States, Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Porto Rico and Venezuela, the foreign legion is made up of men who speak a half dozen languages, but the majority have records of service in the world war. Men who served under Pershing and Byrd share quarters on the ship with men who served under Carranza and Villa, and among the latter are men who were officers of rank. Capt. Donald MacGregor is the officer in command. Born in India, he became a Lieutenant in the Royal Indian army. In the South African campaign he was a Captain and when the world war broke out he enlisted in Canada as a private, but came out with the rank of temporary Major and several decorations. The men were recruited through Spanish consulates. Each member of the expedition is guaranteed a pay of approximately 90 cents a day—more than twice as much as the Spanish soldier receives. As reported on board ship, each was handed a collection of Spanish coins valued at about $1. When they reach Spain they will be given a bonus, depending on the time for which they enlist. In the party are about 40 Americans and 30 men from Canada. As the men gathered on the ship and began to swap yarns, several former comradeships were disclosed. One changed their minds before the ship sailed. Among the latter were two American negroes. When they received their handful of Spanish money, one of them suggested a session of dice. Soon their coin was in possession of a Cuban and roll call showed them A. W. O. L.

CRIME LESSENED BY PUBLIC, NOT THE POLICE, SIDENER SAYS

Circuit Attorney Takes Exceptions to Remarks of President Miller Claiming Much of Credit. After Victor J. Miller, President of the Police Board, speaking last night at a membership campaign dinner of the Mississippi division of the National Safety Council at Hotel Claridge, had recounted the achievements of the Police Department under his administration, taking a large portion of the credit for minimizing crime in the last seven months, a contrary view of the situation was expressed by Circuit Attorney Sidener, who gave most of the credit for the cleanup of criminals to an aroused public sentiment reinforced by a series of long-term sentences imposed by juries that had been awakened to the situation. The Circuit Attorney, who has charge of criminal prosecutions, followed the President of the Police Board on the program and began his remarks with an apologetic air. "I feel like going down to the city hall and giving back my salary after listening to Mr. Miller's remarks," he said. "I was under the impression all the time that somebody else around here was doing something, but it seems that the Police Department is doing it. As a matter of fact, with all due credit to the Police Department and to my own office for what we are attempting to do, the real thing that stopped the orgy of robbery in this city was the passing of an outraged public sentiment, which was reflected in the juries that imposed long-term sentences on the criminals. The effect was such on the criminals that they began pleading guilty to get five or 10 year terms. They were afraid to face the juries, and criminals who ordinarily would ask permission to plead guilty so as to get a workhouse sentence, began asking for five and 10 years. That's what put an end to the orgy of crime."

CHARGE OF DESERTION AGAINST ILLINOIS MAN SET ASIDE

The Adjutant-General of the army has announced that the charge of desertion standing against Edmund B. Lyngquist, whose name is also borne on the records as Edmund B. Lyngquist, Edmund Lyngquist and Edmund B. Lyngquist, a registrant of the local board for Division No. 2, Rock Island County, Illinois, has been set aside. Draft records show that this man registered twice for the selective service draft with the local board for Division No. 2, Rock Island County, Ill., on June 5, 1917. Under serial No. 4321, order No. 2673, he was issued delinquent order No. 14,742, directing him to report to the Adjutant-General of Illinois for military duty not later than June 12, 1918, and because he failed to so report he was subsequently certified to the Adjutant-General of the army as a deserter. However, under serial No. 2555, order No. 652, he was inducted into military service by the local board Sept. 19, 1917, and was forwarded to camp, where he served until June 8, 1919, under the name of Edmund B. Youngquist. This man's name appeared upon the published list of alleged draft deserters as the result of the erroneous report of the draft officials showing him to be a deserter, and his service was not discovered in the check of the list of alleged draft deserters against the records of the army.

MARINE CONFERENCE TO BE HELD IN ST. LOUIS SEPT. 30

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Announcement was made here today that a meeting is to be held in St. Louis on Friday, Sept. 30, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, in behalf of the preservation of the American Merchant Marine and the establishment and maintenance of new foreign trade routes. Two members of the Executive Committee of the National Merchant Marine Association—Matthew Hale of Boston and Washington, and Capt. W. H. Stayton of Baltimore—will be the principal speakers. Hale, a Harvard man, is president of the South Atlantic Maritime Corporation and the South Atlantic Export Co. Capt. Stayton is president of the Baltimore Shipping Co. One of Series of Meetings. The St. Louis meeting is one of a series to be held throughout the Middle West during September and October under the supervision of the National Merchant Marine Association in co-operation with local Chambers of Commerce and other organizations interested in putting the American Merchant Marine upon a stable basis and preventing American shipping from falling into foreign control, as was the case for 59 years prior to the world war.

For Business Floors

Stands the Tread of Trampling Feet

THIS floor in the Chicago offices of the Quaker Oats Company is trod all day by the feet of busy people. Their footsteps do not mar its smooth, elastic surface, and its spick-and-span brightness is restored by a quick, easy cleaning with mild soap and lukewarm water.

The floor is Armstrong's Linoleum, chosen for its low cost of installation and upkeep, its long wear under hard usage, its quietness and comfort under foot.

You can choose from plain colors, parquetry or inlaid designs, or tile effects to suit your particular type of office or store.

If you are planning a public building or an office building, if you are going to lay new floors in your store or office, talk with your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum merchant about Armstrong's Linoleum. We shall be glad to send him data and specifications for laying.

A good way to install Armstrong's Linoleum as a permanent floor is to cement it down firmly over a layer of builders' felt paper. A floor so laid will remain as tight and smooth as the day it was put down.

All Armstrong's Linoleum is guaranteed to give satisfaction.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

"Reason Together."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WE are confronted with a most serious situation. Men and women by the thousands are out of work. The winter is not as far away as the sunshine and warmth would indicate. Suffering and hatred will follow if we do not face the situation and do all that is humanly possible to better it.

Argument from long range will get us nowhere. Those who want to build believe that wages and the cost of materials are too high. Labor thinks general prices are too high. Contractors and builders think wages are too high. Each interested party going to stand still until the others move, or are all going to work out a fair plan so that all can go forward together? If misunderstanding is causing work to be held up, why not attempt to clear up such differences as exist by conference and co-operation rather than by controversy and antagonism?

It is suggested, therefore, that the Mayor, or some other public official, arrange a conference between builders and contractors, members of the building trades, material men and owners who want to build when the labor and material costs can be adjusted on a fair basis.

"Come, let us reason together," is not bad doctrine in the year 1921, and if building operations can be started on a basis of justice, other industries may become more active and the unemployment situation may be at least partially relieved.

F. LIONBERGER DAVIS.

A Public Service.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE members of Kenrick Council 686, Knights of Columbus, in session, fully realizing your efforts in exposing, through a series of articles now running in your most esteemed publication, the true nature and purposes of the so-called organization known as the Ku Klux Klan, or "The Invisible Empire," went on record as extending to your worthy paper their sincere thanks. It is just such public service as this that has earned for your newspaper the undying gratitude of its readers.

CHARLES A. BOGGIANO,

Recorder 686.

Sex Equality.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned realizes the seriousness of the unemployment situation, he cannot fully agree with "Ex-Serviceman" in the Sunday (Sept. 11) Post-Dispatch, stating that a law should be enacted forbidding men to marry a woman who is making over $19 weekly must support his wife, and that she be not allowed to work unless she can positively prove that she is really in need.

Such a law, if enacted, could do very little to relieve the situation. Unemployment must be solved upon a more fundamental economic basis. No doubt "Ex-Serviceman" knows we are living in a civilization where economic survival is not out for himself. We have sex equality. Men and women are equal—or supposed to be—politically, socially, economically. A young woman does not have to marry nowadays for "support." She can support herself. As a wife she is economically independent and her husband economically free. A young couple starting in life can work and plan and save together for their future security. That is the modern marriage idea.

If the average young working man and woman better understood their new freedom, and married, there would be fewer lonely hearts and shattered lives. Not only still a young man, I have spent time and money and energy, traveled through several States, visited some of the larger industrial centers of our country, in an attempt to study our social problems and in attending parks, theaters and other amusements where young working people congregate; found countless lonely young men and women longing for that companionship which nature's God intended they should enjoy. Why? Because they did not understand. Fortunately are the young man and woman who, having nothing but their industry and faith, yet understanding the modern sex equality, join in marriage and live up to that idea.

F. STEINER.

1422 South Broadway.

Exaggerated.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN a recent issue of your paper I read an article on soldier rehabilitation which was extreme in some of its assertions.

Mr. E. Head, district vocational officer, made a statement at the Statter Hotel that all former service men receiving vocational training were receiving 47 per cent more wages now than before entering the service. I wish to correct that statement.

I am an ex-service man in placement training, and I am one of the many that are not making 47 per cent more wages than before entering the service.

Mr. Head takes in too much territory when he says that all former service men are making 47 per cent more wages. Some men are doing so, but not all men by any means.

A READER.

STRANGLING ST. LOUIS.

Everybody in St. Louis should be interested in F. E. Newberry's letter to the real estate firm of Oron E. & R. G. Scott, which was printed in yesterday's Post-Dispatch. Replying to a notice from this firm that the rent on his apartment had been increased from $85 to $140 a month—an increase of $55, or almost 65 per cent, in addition to a previous raise of $20—with the further demand that he sign a two-year lease, Mr. Newberry stated that he would leave St. Louis.

That the thousands of other victims of landlord rapacity will be interested goes without saying. But what of the people who are not victims of rental extortion? Beginning with the banker, does it mean anything to him that a family has been driven from St. Louis? Does it mean anything to the department store proprietors? What of the grocer, clothier, haberdasher, laundry, butcher, baker and candlestick maker, telephone, street railway, gas and electric light companies?

There is not a business in this city that is not affected directly or indirectly by this family's deportation. Perhaps if only one family had been deported the business interests of the city could disregard it, but the fact is that the big majority of the families of St. Louis have, in effect, been deported. Extortionate rents have cut down the buying power and saving power of the St. Louis public to an alarming extent. The evil of rent avarice extends far beyond descending living standards of the immediate victims. The entire city is being victimized.

This epidemic of greed has become a public menace. Why should it not be met as such? Were the city visited by a similarly destructive pestilence we should at once spring into action. The men who wear the mantle of leadership—our financiers, our merchant princes, with the advice of our greatest lawyers, and all inspired with the sanction and blessing of the churches—would pool their genius and mobilize resources for relief and defense. Our civic organizations would strip for the fight. Fraternal orders would come resolutely and generously forward.

Why not in this instance? Does not this assault upon the city's welfare call for organized resistance? Is St. Louis to be degraded vitally and strangled commercially without one word of protest from the powerful?

FIVE GLITTERING GOLDSTEIN MINUTES.

Mr. Nat Goldstein would like to make a five-minute talk to the preachers who are objecting to his appointment as Postmaster. It is to be hoped this event can be arranged. Let there be no misapprehension about it—it would surely be an event. For, without effusively lauding the lecturer, or reflecting upon the attainments of his audience, it may safely be said that in five minutes Nat could tell the preachers more things than were ever dreamed of in their philosophy. That five-minute discourse would be a liberal education for the preachers.

But why should it be an exclusively clerical affair? Why not admit the laity, too? Is not the science of government a subject in which we are all interested? Fling open wide the doors of the Coliseum, then, and let us all group in, sinners and saints, Philistine and elect, bourgeois and bolshevik, male and female, to be illumined, disillusioned and early entertained by this virtuoso of politics.

AMERICANS AS MERCENARIES.

In these days of democracy and leagues of nations, even though we have just pulled ourselves out of the worst mire of war in history, we are disposed to look upon the future as a life of preordained and inescapable routine.

It is something of a shock, therefore, when we realize that Americans in our day and our free country are hiring themselves out, as did the Hessian mercenaries of George III, to a foreign King to put down an insurrection of natives on a distant continent. And the underlying purpose of the war is to enable the King to keep his crown. For a climax of anomalies it is a Spanish King.

The scene is New Orleans. The persons of the drama are 200 youths, 150 of them Americans, of whom a large proportion are former soldiers of the World War. The cause, joblessness. The destination, Morocco. The objective, the defeat of Raisuli, the Moor. Consideration, 41-2 pesos a day. (A peso at normal exchange is 19 1/2 cents.)

Of course, it would be unfair to blame any individual or perhaps any political party for a condition that forced Americans to become mercenaries under a foreign King. However, if the most had been done that could have been done by the American Government to internationalize the present resources of prosperity, then we might clearly charge the condition to adversity.

THE STATE BONUS FUND.

Gov. Hyde's reported decision to call a special session of the State Legislature Nov. 1 to provide legislation for the payment of the bonus to ex-service men is justified. Extra sessions are costly, and we have had one this year, but the proceeds of the bond issue of $15,000,000 voted by the people for Missouri ex-service men should be available at the earliest possible time.

It is a pity that the funds are not immediately available for distribution. There is widespread unemployment and many ex-service men are in dire need. The bonus would help to tide over the winter and ease the hardships of the men. Since this is impossible the steps necessary to make the fund available should be taken without delay.

The people have voted the money, the men are entitled to it and many of them need it. The sooner it is paid the better. One dollar now would be worth ten in the far future.

THE CASE OF STEFANIA WATROBKA.

A page of Dickens has just been written at Ellis Island, with a Polish girl, Stefania Watrobka, enacting the role of Sidney Carton.

Since coming here eight years ago Stefania has skimped and saved to get money enough to bring a younger sister, Karolina, to America. At last Stefania's devotion and sacrifice were rewarded. Karolina was here. But the triumph turned to anguish when Stefania learned that her sister had arrived a few minutes too late, according to our immigration laws, and could not be admitted. Karolina would have to go back.

Stefania was crushed but not beaten. Eight years of sacrifice and devotion may leave harsh visible traces, but its visible handiwork is beautiful and indomitable. That sort of service steals the soul. Stefania met this unlooked-for disaster with radiant courage and resourcefulness. She changed clothes with her sister, gave the latter her pass and her savings and Karolina went forth to freedom.

Stefania is now a criminal. She has broken the law by aiding an alien to enter the country unlawfully. She faces a prison sentence of five years and a fine of $3000. But immigration authorities say that neither punishment will be inflicted. They have a more exquisite torture in reserve. Unless Karolina is found Stefania will go back to Poland.

The immigration authorities are acting according to their sputtering, feeble lights. They must be upheld, too, by all people who hold the letter of the law to be sacrosanct. Still, there are those who believe that "kind hearts are more than coronets" or statutes, who believe that a law occasionally is more honored in the breach than in the observance, and among such, in these appealing premises, may possibly be included the President of the United States.

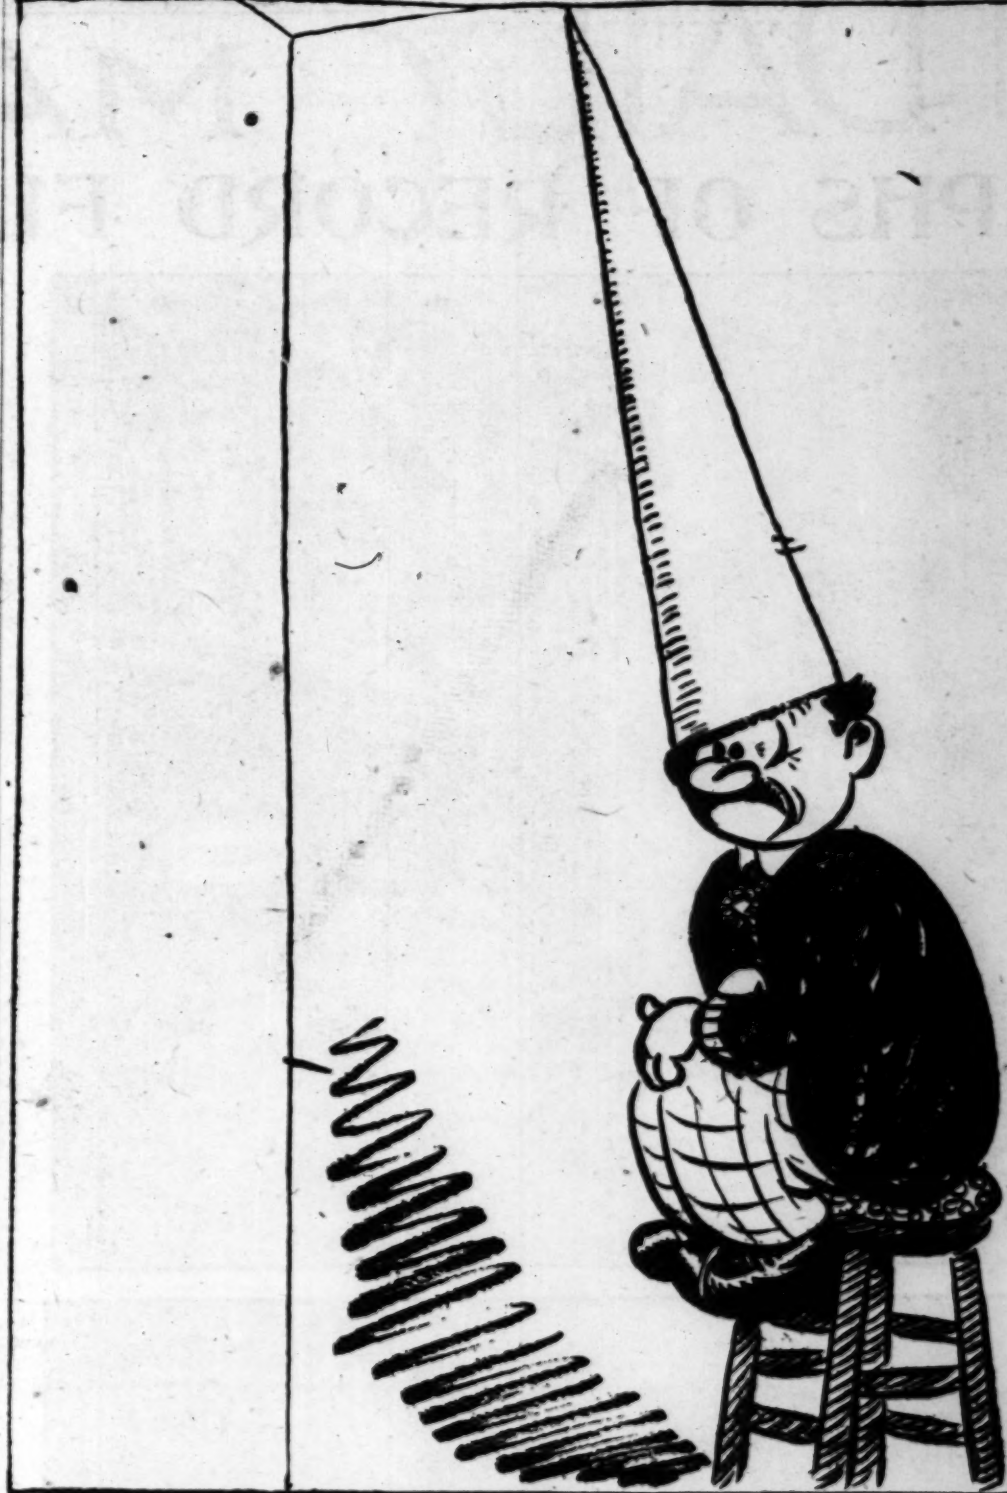

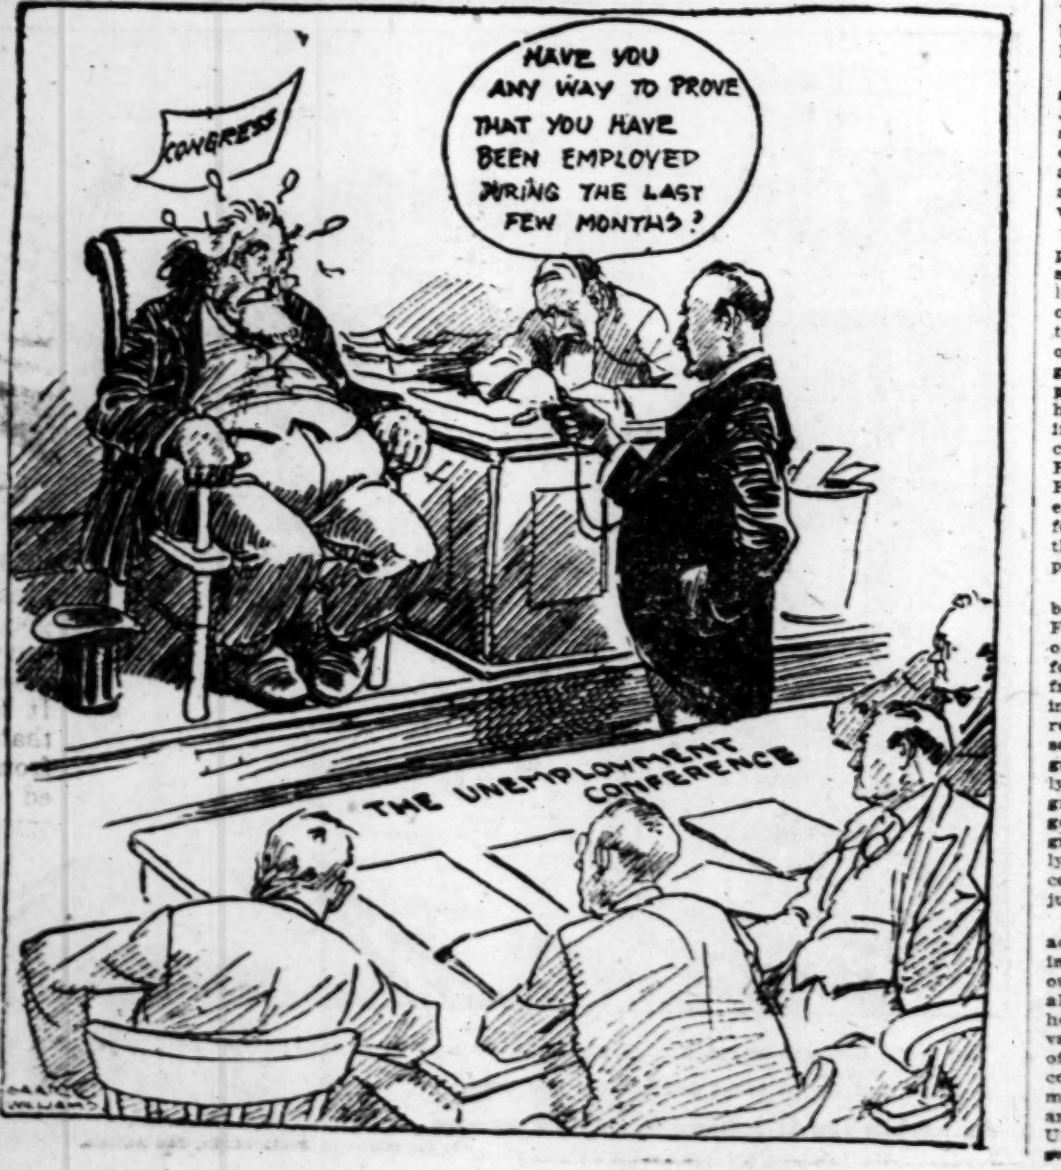

Mr. Harding a day or two ago acknowledged the distress he had suffered from reports of painful incidents resulting from the construction of our new immigration laws. He charged those harrowing experiences to the avarice of steamship companies, and perhaps rightly. But fixing responsibility in such instances is of minor consequence. Cases like that of Stefania Watrobka call for prevention of cruel injustice which, however legal, is utterly and terribly wrong.

The solution, of course, must be had in a rewriting of the wretched immigration restrictions which will permit competent officers a humane latitude of discretion. And no immigration laws should exclude or banish the Stefania Watrobkas. Women of the character this girl has shown are worth more to America than gold or silver. Such women are the predestined mothers of great men. Their sons should be Americans.

The Greek seems to have the Turk's Angora.

PUBLIC SHOOTING GROUNDS IN LOUISIANA.

OF the more than six million hunters of the United States, many will be benefited by the recent action of authorities in Louisiana in setting aside the Pass-a-l'Outre Public Shooting Grounds, a tract of 60,000 acres, at the mouth of the Mississippi River. Here the sportsman of moderate means can enjoy all the opportunities for wild fowl shooting enjoyed by wealthy members of the exclusive clubs in that section. The action taken is in direct accord with recommendations made by the Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture. Louisiana is one of the first states to adopt the broad policy of protecting its citizens against monopolization of the desirable hunting grounds by exclusive clubs.

In the Pass-a-l'Outre reservation there is an area where all wild fowl will find refuge from the gun of the hunter. The shooting grounds are dotted with duck ponds and make one of the finest duck-hunting preserves in the United States. It is located on practically newly created ground, built up in the last few years by the Mississippi with the sediment constantly carried down by the river where the river pours into the Gulf of Mexico. Where it for sale the property could hardly be bought for much more than half a million dollars.

The season for hunting wild fowl on the new shooting grounds will extend from Nov. 1 to Jan. 31 and the law permits each hunter to shoot 25 ducks each day. To prevent overcrowding, hunters will be required to register, and accommodations will be provided for an average of 100 hunters, more than it is probable will be there on any one day.

An extension of such public-spirited and progressive conservation measures by other states," said Dr. E. W. Nelson, Chief of the Biological Survey, in commenting on the action of Louisiana. "It will result in the retention of water areas in various parts of the country where our migratory wild fowl may have feeding grounds and places to breed, and where the public can continue to exercise the splendid health-giving sport of wild-fowl hunting during the open season. The New-Anthony bill recently introduced in Congress (S. 1493 and H. R. 5823) will, if it becomes a law, enable the Federal Government to join with the states in establishing a great series of breeding places for wild fowl and public shooting grounds throughout the country, thus insuring the perpetuation of wild-fowl hunting.

"According to its terms, the New-Anthony bill proposes to accomplish two main objects: First, the purchase, or rental, and maintenance of marsh and water areas especially suitable for migratory wild fowl, which shall be used as free public shooting grounds in the open hunting season, and safeguarded as breeding and resting places for these birds in the close season; and, second, the administration of the migratory bird treaty act in order more adequately to maintain and increase the supply of migratory birds, including not only the ducks, geese and others classed as game, but the great host of smaller species which are so vitally essential to the agricultural interests of the country through their unceasing war on injurious insects.

"The passage of the migratory bird treaty act constituted the first important step toward insuring the perpetuation of our wild fowl and our wild-fowl hunting. The season step is of almost equally vital importance if we are to hold what we have gained. This is the conservation and perpetuation of a sufficient number of small inland lakes, as well as inland and coastal swamps and marsh areas, to provide our migratory wild fowl necessary feeding, resting and breeding places within the United States. Under proper conditions many lakes, ponds, swamps and marsh areas will yield a distinctly larger return than would the same areas drained for agricultural purposes.

"At the present time it is estimated that more than 6,000,000 people in the United States are engaged in hunting of one kind or another each year. The rapidly increasing drainage of marsh areas threatens the continuance of one of the most popular kinds of hunting, which will be perpetuated under the terms of the New-Anthony bill. With the growing congestion of population and the unrest which such massing produces, the need for maintaining and developing opportunities for out-of-door recreation places this bill in the front rank among legislative measures bearing on the public welfare. Throughout the United States a very large proportion of the men who spend a certain period each year in hunting are undoubtedly among our most desirable citizens. Through their out-of-door recreations they develop their resourcefulness and maintain a physical and mental health which is of the utmost value in relation to their civic usefulness.

"Under present conditions many of the most favorable marsh areas for wild-fowl shooting have been purchased and are being held by wealthy sportsmen as hunting clubs, thus curtailing opportunities for wild-fowl hunting by the general public. The growing absorption of such areas by hunting clubs has created much criticism on the part of those who, through lack of means, are unable to enjoy such privileges. The establishment of public shooting grounds such as have just been made by Louisiana will give the general public equally good shooting opportunities with those had by the clubs, and should completely obviate any cause for the antagonistic feeling now existing on the part of the public."

DON'T FIT THE FARMER.

(Jack Boston in Monroe County, Mo., Appeal.)
The farmer's lot, of course, is not to his liking. Before the coming winter is over, however, millions of people in American cities will wish they were farming just as well. In spite of economic injustices and financial reverses the average farmer has plenty of food for himself and his stock and plenty of fuel for his home. He has a goodly income of 5,000,000 men out of work. With rents abnormally high, food at war-time figures, fuel more expensive than ever before and other necessities entirely out of reach, God only knows how these men are going to live and take care of their families. There has been suffering in our large centers of population in other times of depression, but nothing like what we will see this winter, for in previous hard times the man who occasionally got hold of a dollar could buy considerable food or fuel with it whereas a dollar is not more than pocket change in the eyes of producers who are uncheckered by legal authorities, are now filling their coffers with money that is just as dirty and just as bloody as the 30 pieces of silver Judas Iscariot flung out of his pockets before he hanged himself. It will be a matter of surprise if our life millions, maddened by extortion and hunger, do not resort to violence before winter weather comes again. At any rate, they will carry the man on the farm who, in spite of the times, has plenty of food and fuel.

If there really is to be a carburetor enabling a Ford to run the rest of its life on a gallon of gas there is not to be much left of the saying: "If wishes were horses buggies could ride."

Maybe Zoe Akins will write all our plays, as Clyde Fitch used to do.

SUNSET.

THE day is dying, while the night,
Like some archer, creeps on space.
Day, in one last wild passionate protest,
Flings wide her robes of rose and gold and blue,
To stand revealed in all her loveliness.
Until at last, too tired and spent to care,
She folds her wondrous garments round about
And, sinking down into the sweltering sky,
Fades into oblivion—

THE KU KLUX KLAN.

ORIGINALLY organized six years ago as a "directed against the negro. Now the negro has become a side issue with it." Today it is "anti-Jew, anti-Catholic and anti-foreign" and it is spreading more than twice as fast through the North and West than it is in the South." The American party of the nineteenth century had similar purposes and similar methods to those of the Klan. A. P. Sloan ran its course from 1889 till 1906. Lesson in World Politics.

REPORTS of the coming disarmament conference will be telegraphed and cabled all over the world.

As the world's eyes are turned to the disarmament conference, it is not for an instant to be forgotten that the world is still a very real place.

There will be no necessity of negotiating the terms of the conference, or the terms of the latest divorce, or the terms of the latest election, or the terms of the latest war. You have far more to think about than you do.

BYOTE a part of it to reading carefully everything that is said about the disarmament conference.

Read the sketches of the men who will be at the conference. Learn who they are, and how they are going to behave.

There is nothing as interesting as the people who are in it, and the way they are making toward a settlement.

Of the conference results in an armistice and complete interchange of arms will go far toward making the world a better place to live in for some time.

THIRD INSTALLMENT.

Normanhurst, as you know, is a low, spreading house of a comfortable Victorian downiness. There are no "don't count the attic—only two stories. It is old enough to be quite covered with climbing plants—ivy on the north, roses and a wistaria on the other sides. Birdie Bolton's bedroom and boudoir looked to the south, and were on the ground floor.

On the north of the house is the approach through a shrubbery. Birdie Bolton's rooms looked out upon a rosebed and a big lawn. About her windows climbed a big Gloire de Dijon. The roses beneath were of a newer hybrid type, well cultivated, well chosen, and at their best—fragrant pom of red and gold. "How she loved 'em, poor soul," Reggie thought, and began to feel that the house was a very good one. The singular emotion was interrupted by the sound of a motor car. He went back to the front of the house to meet it.

A big car was drawing up. It contained two people—a goggled chauffeur and a large young man who jumped out, rather clumsily, before the car stopped. He had the good looks of a hero of musical comedy, but an expression rather sheepish than fatuous, and a pallid complexion.

"I think you are Mr. Ford," Reggie came close to him. "I am Mr. Ford," said Birdie Bolton with a patient smile. "I hardly expected to see you so soon."

"Miss Weston sent for me, Mr. Ford," Reggie said. "I am Mr. Ford," said Birdie Bolton with a patient smile. "I hardly expected to see you so soon."

"Jolly kind of Flora," Reggie said. "Well, Mr. Ford, Miss Bolton has been nudged."

"My God!" said Mr. Ford, and became livid.

"And Miss Weston has been charged with the murder," Reggie said. "Oh, my God!" Mr. Ford said again. "Oh, damn!" and put his hand to his head. "Here, let me go to her."

"I don't mind," said Reggie, and Mr. Ford plunged into the house.

Reggie remained on the steps waiting for fresh arrivals. The goggled chauffeur moved his car on, out of the way, descended, and behind a burrhead sat a cigarette. Reggie, who never smoked them, sniffed disapproval and began to tip a pipe.

A taxicab drove up, and out of it bounced a plump little man whose coat looked as if he wore stays.

"I am Dr. Fortune," Reggie said. "And I'm Donald Gordon, doctor," said the little man, who was emphatically a Jew. "Moss and Gordon."

It was the name of Miss Bolton's solicitors. "Many thanks for letting us know. Poor, dear Birdie. She was a peach. Let's have all the facts, please." He had an engaging lisp. "So he's played Miss Weston, has he?" the little Jew lisped. "He's a juster."

"Oh, I expect he's arrested Ford," Reggie said, and walked him into the garden and began to tell him all that you know.

"So he's played Miss Weston, has he?" the little Jew lisped. "He's a juster."

"Oh, I expect he's arrested Ford," Reggie said, and walked him into the garden and began to tell him all that you know.

"I dare say it'll be for Miss Weston," Reggie said. "Taking her to Holloway at once? Well, well, I dare say it's all for the best."

But Miss Weston was not to go without a noise. Mr. Ford saw to that. At the head of the stairs he conducted an altercation with Inspector Mordant in which defiance, abuse and profane swearing were his chief arguments. It was beastly stupid and it was damned impudent to arrest Miss Weston, and it was also beastly impudent and damned stupid, and so forth. In the midst of which the wretched girl was shepherded by two detectives downstairs.

"My God, you might as well arrest me!" Mr. Ford cried, in final desperation.

"Perhaps I will," said Inspector heavily, and glowered at him.

Mr. Ford paled and drew back. On the stairs below Miss Weston stopped and turned. "Oh, Edwina, don't," she said. "They can't hurt me. You know they can't."

Superintendent Bell drew Reggie aside.

"I wouldn't dare. He quarreled with me."

"Such a pity. The Superintendent smiled and rubbed his hands. "I ought to tell you, doctor, I quite approve of everything that Inspector Mordant has done."

"Splendid force, the police," Mr. Gordon lisped. "Wonderful force. So forcible."

"Including the arrest of Miss Weston?" Reggie asked. "Well, well. Anyone else you'd like to arrest?"

"Anyone you suggest, doctor? Now I ask you—what would you have done?"

"Oh, I'm not in the force."

"We do have to be so careful," the Superintendent sighed. "That's a handicap, that is. I wonder why you wanted me, doctor?"

"I'm frightened of your inspector. He's not chatty. I want to photograph the body."

The Superintendent turned to Gordon. "It's a taste, you know, that's what it is. He likes corpses. Speaking as man to man, doctor, are you working with us?"

"May I?"

"That's very handsome. Yes. Inspector Mordant, he has a kind of a manner, as you might say. I'll speak to him. Is there anything you'd like to tell me, doctor?"

"Nice flowers, aren't they?" Reggie nodded to the rose bed under Birdie Bolton's window. It was minutely neat.

"Look as if they'd been brought up by hand," said the Superintendent, but he looked at Reggie, not the roses. "Anything queer, sir?"

"There's that," Reggie said. He pointed to a spray of the Gloire de Dijon beside the window. It bore a bud; it had been broken, and the bud was limp and dead.

"That wasn't broken last night," said the Superintendent.

How to Reduce

A small piece of cottage cheese.

IN the days of Nero feasting was considered the most fascinating form of entertainment. The chairs were built at such an angle that the body was in a semi-reclining position and two or three hours were spent at the festive board. More and more the Roman Empire deteriorated as her citizens worshipped the gods of Greed and Gluttony. As we compare those days with the present, it seems as though some of us have adopted the same attitude of selling our heritage of youth, health and beauty for a mess of pottage.

Nero, with a girl like a Hercules, considered himself a great hero, but in modern times a fat hero is no hero at all. We have been educated to change our viewpoint and we know that it is not the amount we eat but the amount of food we assimilate that really gives us renewed strength and energy.

The American woman has adopted many European methods of preparing food. Some of these are very good and others are entirely unsuited to our climate and mode of living. If there is any one field where simplicity is beneficial, it is in the selection of a simple diet, especially in the summer time. Since to reduce weight is to reduce the amount of food we eat, we must first of all reduce the amount of food we eat.

Several of my readers have asked that I publish a recipe for a laxative bread. This is a recipe for a laxative bread. It is a recipe for a laxative bread. It is a recipe for a laxative bread.

Two cups of wheat bran, one cup of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one and a half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and three tablespoonfuls of molasses. Mix, then add enough milk to make a dough, adding, if desired, such fruits as raisins, figs and dates. Bake as a loaf or as gems.

Reggie said. "Well, not a searchlight, said the Superintendent. Miss Weston was driven off. Mr. Ford, looking dazed, came slowly downstairs, and to him went Gordon.

"Better get her a solicitor, you know," Gordon said. "By Jove, that's it!" Mr. Ford cried, and plunged out.

The Inspector and the Superintendent exchanged glances and looked at Gordon. "Why did you put him onto that, sir?" said the Superintendent.

"Professional feeling, dear boy," Gordon smiled. "Nice girl, ain't it? I fancy my firm are Miss Bolton's executors, and I fancy that bird is sole legatee."

The Superintendent pursed his lips. The Inspector laughed. "It grows, don't it, sir? Just grows," he said.

"I would like to get on," Reggie yawned.

"That's right," said the Superintendent, and took the Inspector aside.

Mr. Gordon, following Reggie to the boudoir, was distressed by the sight of the dead body, and said to Reggie went on with his photography—first the stab in the throat, then the minor wounds, then the bruise on the forehead. At which last Inspector Mordant found him.

"Taking the wrong side, aren't you?" he sneered.

"Oh, I'm taking all sides. Ever try it?" Reggie said.

"Well, have you done, doctor?" the little Jew broke in. "Can't we have her covered up?"

"I'll have the body removed, sir," the Inspector said.

And so at last the body of Birdie Bolton was taken away to the mortuary, and Mr. Gordon, much relieved, flung open the windows and turned to his business, the secretarial and his papers. He worked quickly. "Nothing there but love-letters. Wonder where she kept her will?"

"There's a safe in the bedroom," "I think," Reggie said.

"You bet there is. She had all her jewels in the house, I know, and she had some good stuff, poor old girl. Well, come on; here's her key."

The little Jew made for the safe. Reggie wandered across the room. It was a parquet floor with Persian rugs on it. He shifted one by the bedside. There was a small dark stain on the floor still not dry. An exclamation from Gordon made him turn. Gordon had the safe open, and the safe, but for some papers in the safe, was empty.

"Not one bally bangle left!" Gordon cried. "Not a sparkle of the whole outfit! Remember that ruby and diamond bracelet! Remember her pearls! And the stuff that Indian Johnny gave her. My hat! Somebody's had a haul. A spasm crossed his face. 'I say, doctor, you were here when I opened the safe?' 'I was here,' Reggie said stolidly. 'I wasn't surprised.' The little Jew gasped. 'You remember that emerald she always wore? It was here.' Reggie said. 'Oh, God!' said Gordon, and with unsteady hands turned over the papers. 'That's her script. More or less all there. I should say. Where's the will? I know she had her will. Draw it myself.' 'What's that?' Reggie said.

The one untidy thing in that very tidy room, a paper lay by the fireplace. Gordon picked it up. "Here we are," said Reggie. "The document. Crumpled up and torn!" He whistled. "As if Birdie was destroying it and not being destroyed!"

"Just as if she'd been destroying it," Reggie agreed.

"That puts the lid on, don't it?" said the little Jew. "Miss Weston—oh, for, there's a soft kid if you ever had one. Just shows you never knew with girl, doctor. Girl, girl, girl! Well, we'd better tell these bally policemen."

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

What a Little Worm Did.

A little thing pray don't despise,
Nor judge it wholly by its size.

—The Worm.

STRIPED CHIPMUNK awoke. This was no time to be napping. He knew it. Never in the world would he have thought of going to sleep had not Farmer Brown's Boy brought him so many good things to eat that morning. Some of them wouldn't have kept had he put them away in his storehouse. They would have spoiled. Striped Chipmunk knew it. So he put them away in his stomach. He stuffed his pockets in his cheeks.

Now, you know, a very full stomach is apt to make one sleepy. It was so with Striped Chipmunk. And as there wasn't a reason in the world why he shouldn't take a nap if he felt like it, he did just that thing. He curled up in his comfortable bed of grass in his comfortable little room, and he fell right off to sleep. And he slept so soundly that he didn't know what was going on outside his little round doorway in the middle of the path alongside of the Old Orchard.

Crouched Black Pussy the Cat patiently waiting.

Now that he was awake he was very wide awake. He was Striped Chipmunk. He was very wide awake indeed. "My, my, my, my, my!" said he, scolding himself very gently, "this will never do. No, indeed, this will never do. How under the sun can you expect to know what is going on out in the Great World if you sleep all the time? It can't be done. Striped Chipmunk. It can't be done, and you know it."

Striped Chipmunk started ed briskly along his path toward the little round doorway beside which patiently watched Black Pussy the Cat. And there was this difference between the two: Striped Chipmunk didn't know that Black Pussy was waiting for him up above, and Black Pussy did know that Striped Chipmunk was down below and sooner or later would come out. Now in a certain little apple hanging from a certain branch of a certain apple tree lived a certain little worm. That certain branch of that certain apple tree was just over the little path, so that certain little apple hung just over Black Pussy, but high!

Black Pussy knew nothing of that certain little worm in that certain little apple. Neither did Striped Chipmunk. Neither would have given a thought to that certain little worm in that certain little apple. Striped Chipmunk knew nothing of Striped Chipmunk nor of Black Pussy, and he wouldn't have given either of them a thought had he known of them.

His one concern in life was to eat and grow, eat and grow. That is what that certain little worm was doing, and at last that certain little worm, that was his view of the matter. So for some time he had been eating and growing, eating and growing, and he was now in the very heart of that certain little worm.

Now, little apples with little worms in them do not thrive and grow as other apples do, and after a while they become weak in their stems and drop from the trees, so that the trees may give all their strength to making the other apples, which haven't little worms in them, big and beautiful and delicious, as apples should be.

That certain little worm in that certain little apple on that certain tree ate on and on, and at last that certain little apple could hold out no longer. So it let go and fell. And it fell just as Striped Chipmunk poked his nose out of his little round doorway where waited Black Pussy.

Husbands in China

Wu Ting Fang, Former Minister to U. S., Discusses Modernization of Oriental Women.

THERE are quite as many henpecked husbands in the Republic of China as elsewhere in the world, according to Wu Ting Fang, former Chinese Minister to the United States. Moreover, women of this part of the Orient bob their hair short, wear tight trousers and go their Occidental sisters one better in many ways.

The Hon. Mr. Wu, who is frequently called the world's best-known Chinese, tells many startling and interesting things concerning the women of his country in an article published under his signature in the Delinquent magazine. The author admits that he took his pen in hand with considerable trepidation, as anything he might say would "surely be rewarded with more kicks than thanks," but that he finally decided to go ahead because he was quite sure his article would never be republished in China.

The Hon. Mr. Wu was induced to undertake this task at the personal solicitation of Mrs. William Brown Maloney, editor of the Delinquent, who knew him when he was Chinese Minister to America. In his article he refers to Mrs. Maloney as "a lady, who was only a kid," when he was in this country, but "who now is a well-educated woman and, to boot, a full-fledged editor of a great magazine in New York."

He says that a cautious henpecked husband would avoid discussing the subject at issue, but he intends to do so impartially. One of Wu's greatest assets is a fine sense of humor.

The writer states that a great change has occurred in the women of China during the past 15 years. It was then that they discarded what he terms the "pedestal bandage," meaning the tiny shoes in which their feet were confined. When they kicked off these shoes they discarded with them many traditional shackles.

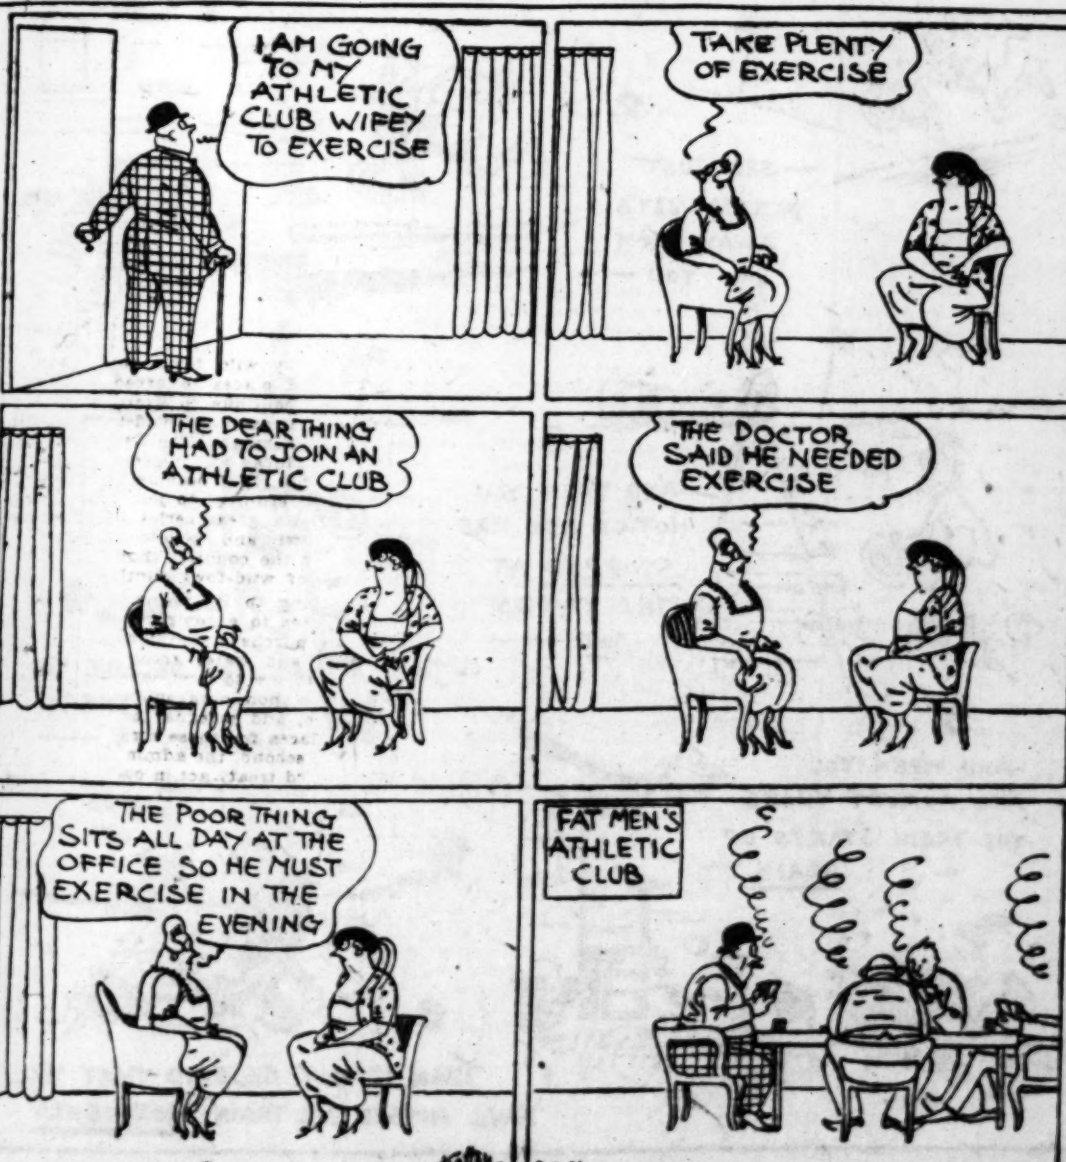

The real turning of the worm, after many false attempts, came when the women bombarded Parliament, as suffragettes have bombarded law-making bodies in this country and in England. They were more successful there than either here or in Europe, according to Wu, because "the members of Parliament did not dare call fully police interference. They consider that the better part of discretion is to let the House to avoid them."

A repetition of such an incident occurred recently. Wu says that it is untrue that Chinese women have no voice in their home. Not only do they control the house, but they accompany their husbands upon the streets and actually take part in public gatherings. They are even known to attend dinners and excursions unaccompanied by male escorts and "instead of being shy and timid, maintain their positions very properly and gracefully."

One of the greatest changes has to do with marriage. In the good old days before the women kicked off their "pedestal bandages" girls married men selected by their parents and whom they had never seen. Nothing like this happens nowadays. If a young lady is not permitted to pick out her own spouse, she adopts the Occidental expedient of eloping. This occurs even in conservative families. "They have not as yet adopted the swift method of motor cars or airplanes as there are not many of these in China, but they effect it just as easily," says the former Minister.

Wu goes on to talk entertainingly of education beginning now with kindergarten and ending with high co-educational institutions. He tells of the employment of women and many other facts not generally known here in the western world.
